

Health & Safety

Heatley Industrial & Safety is committed to building an ongoing safe working condition for all employees, contractors, visitors and the general public. Our aim is to achieve zero accidents, injuries and occupational illnesses.

Heatleys focuses on

- Identifying & reducing the risk of injuries or illness sustained in the workplace

- Making sure relevant information about work place hazards and their control measure are available to Employees & Contractors at all times

- Making sure that OH&S obligations are precisely determined and communicated

- All employees and Contractors will be provided with information training & education appropriate to the duties they will enter upon

- All incidents are to be investigated so to detect the cause(s) and to make sure suitable actions are in place to minimise the risk of occurrence

- Complying with all appropriate legislation, codes of practice and where applicable Australian standards

- Conducting and auditing a review schedule to guarantee compliance

- Conducting routine senior management and board reviews of safety performance and to initiate counteractive actions as necessary

- Ensuring contractors & employees are involved and consulted on all safety matters

- Founded objectives that can be measured continuous progress

- Ensuring sufficient resources are available to achieve the objectives of the companies policies and procedures